New Zealand Index of Deprivation (NZDep)

The NZDep is an area-based measure of socioeconomic deprivation in Aotearoa New Zealand created by Otago University. It measures the level of deprivation for people in each small area. It is based on nine Census variables. To read more about the variables used and view maps in more detail, visit <http://www.ehinz.ac.nz/indicators/population-vulnerability/socioeconomic-deprivation-profile/>

Ward Area Overview

The Riccarton Ward includes the suburbs of Riccarton, Ilam, Sockburn, and Upper Riccarton. Hagley Park is on the eastern border, extending to Racecourse Road along Epsom Road to the Sockburn roundabout. The northern boundary runs along Matai Street West, around Riccarton Bush, along Totara Street, up Clyde Road, and through to Creyke and Maidstone Roads to Solway Avenue, including the University of Canterbury's Dovedale Campus. Peer Street forms the western boundary onto Yaldhurst Road/Racecourse Road, with the railway line forming most of the southern border.

The ward encompasses the University of Canterbury campus, Riccarton House and Bush, and the Christchurch Railway Station. There are two bus lounges on either side of Riccarton Road, providing interchange functions for city routes and the Orbiter Route. Riccarton Road bisects the ward, creating demographic and social differences. The north side has older houses on larger sections, while the south side has increased housing density, including social housing developments.

There are three major shopping centres: Bush Inn Centre, Tower Junction, and Westfield Mall, the largest retail complex in the South Island. Blenheim Road and Mandeville Street have a mix of commercial and retail premises, with light industrial businesses in Sockburn and south of Blenheim Road.

Community Infrastructure

The 15 organisations providing community development and/or support to the local community cover a wide range of sectors.

Within the ward there are 25 different organisations providing support to the multicultural sector. This includes eight specialist programmes designed at maintaining the native language and culture to the young people of their communities.

There are a number of faith organisations located in the ward. Within a one-kilometre radius the Muslim, Sikh and Buddhist faiths have places of worship at the Al Noor Mosque, the Gurdwara Centre and the Buddhist Light International Centre respectively.

There is a significant number of organisations providing sporting, recreational and leisure opportunities within the Riccarton Ward. These range from sporting clubs such as Wharenuī Gators Basketball Club to hobbyist organisations such as the Crockfords Bridge Club.

Additional to that number are over 100 student-led clubs and societies operating from the University of Canterbury. A significant number of these are also open to the wider community, the University Rugby Club being a prime example.

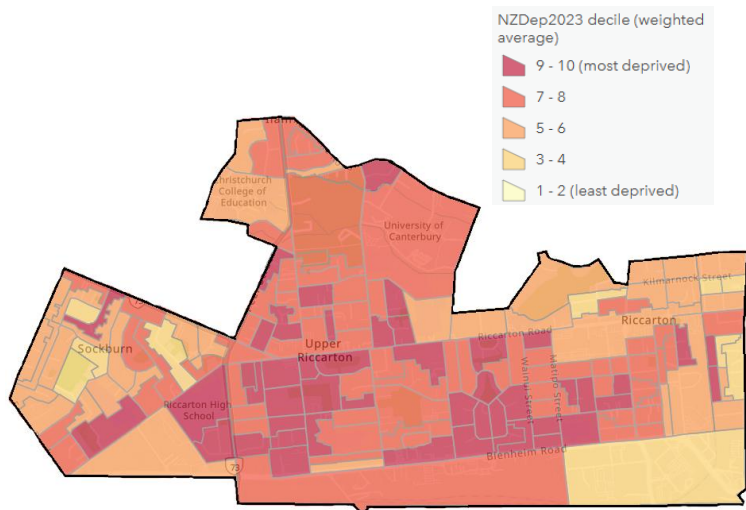

In addition to the two Council owned community facilities and the Upper Riccarton Library community spaces, the Riccarton area is well served by other groups opening up their facility for other community use. This ranges from churches (e.g. Riccarton Baptist) to schools (Wharenuī Primary) and to community organisations that have their own facilities (Crockfords Bridge Club, Christchurch Philatelic Society). The University of Canterbury also has several spaces within the campus that have community use.

Socio-economic Deprivation Index

The scale of deprivation ranges from 1 to 10:

- 1 represents the areas with the least deprived scores.
- 10 represents the areas with the most deprived scores.

Relative to the rest of Christchurch City, Riccarton Ward had higher levels of deprivation overall.

In the Riccarton Ward, around 30 per cent of the population lived in the 'most deprived' areas (i.e. deciles 9 and 10), compared with 16 per cent of all of Christchurch City's population.

Less than 1 per cent of this ward's population lived in the 'least deprived' areas (i.e. deciles 1 and 2), compared with 22 per cent of all of Christchurch City's population.

Compared to the rest of the city, fewer people in the Riccarton Ward have an annual personal income of over $70,000 (12 per cent compared with 24 per cent city wide). Nearly 43 per cent (42.9) have a personal income of less than $20,000 compared to the city figure of 25.3 per cent.

Some of the disparity in income could be attributed to the number of students living in the ward who are on limited income.

There is also a higher proportion of people in the Riccarton Ward (64 per cent) who live in rental accommodation (35.2 per cent city wide). Within the Riccarton ward there are 175 Ōtautahi Community Housing Trust social housing properties. There are 682 Kāinga Ora properties, which is an increase due to the redevelopment of older properties on large sections into multi-unit developments.

The table below shows the median weekly market rent for suburbs in the Riccarton Ward area, according to Tenancy Services (September 2024 to February 2025) along with median house sale prices over the past 12 months.

Suburb	Median weekly rent for a 3 bed home	Median House Sale price over the past 12 months
Ilam	$600	$905,000
Riccarton	$630	$625,000
Sockburn	$600	$615,000
Upper Riccarton	$600	$666,000

Strengthening Communities Together Strategy

This section of the Community Profile provides a narrative of the ward in relation to the four Pillars of the strategy. You can view the full strategy document on the Council's website by clicking here.

Te Pou Tua Tahi: Te Tāngata

Pillar 1: People

The city actively promotes a culture of equity by valuing diversity and fostering inclusion across communities and generations.

Leading the "for the community by the community" approach in the area of Riccarton to the south of Riccarton Road is Oak Development Trust. In addition to employing Riccarton's only Community Development Worker, the Trust also provides specific support programmes to migrant communities, employing three migrants in family worker roles.

Step Ahead and Stepping Stones Trusts provide support to the disability sector while Presbyterian Support offers their Enliven Positive Ageing programme to older adults. Community Development Network Trust and La Vida Youth Trust specifically work with young people, providing amongst other programmes, 24/7 youth workers in four different schools.

Canterbury Fiji Social Services Trust works with the Pasifika community in both the Riccarton and Hornby Wards, providing wraparound support.

In late 2022, community members from various Riccarton organisations came together to create the Riccarton Vision. This approach has been boosted by a new initiative - the Riccarton Collective - where community members can gather to discuss issues of interest and importance. A grouping that has emerged out of this is a collaboration of organisations that are interested in working together to support vulnerable people in Upper Riccarton and Sockburn.

Within the creation of the Riccarton Vision, the community identified the following objectives aligning to the People Pillar:

- Riccarton is a well-connected community where people know and watch out for each other.
- Riccarton is valued as a highly diverse multicultural environment where migrants are welcomed and supported.
- In Riccarton we place a high value on informal bumping spaces, both indoor and outdoor, that provide community members the opportunity to connect with others.
- Riccarton's heritage is valued and shared.
- Riccarton has opportunities for intergenerational connections.

Te Pou Tua Rua: Te Whenua

Pillar 2: Place

We support and help build connections between communities and their places and spaces to foster a sense of local identity, shared experience and stewardship.

Riccarton Centre

University of Canterbury

There are three community gardens operating in the ward. Riccarton Community Garden operates in Dilworth Street in tandem with a Community Pataka in Piko Crescent. The other two are based within the University of Canterbury, one in Ilam Road and one in Solway Avenue.

It is also notable that several community organisations in the ward make their facilities available for use by other community organisations. This collaborative approach allows for a greater level of community relationship-building.

The University of Canterbury (UC) is based in the ward and has experienced steady rises in student numbers, bucking the trend experienced by most of the other universities in the country. In 2024, UC's strategic goal of 22,000 enrolments was met. Māori student numbers were up 9 percent in a year to 2180, with Pasifika numbers up 11 percent.

Accommodation is available for over 2,400 students at nine venues/halls of residences through partnerships with different providers.

UC's influence on regional economic development is substantial, contributing over $790 million to the local economy. With one in two UC graduates who stay in Aotearoa New Zealand joining the Canterbury workforce, the University is a significant driver of economic growth.

There are 91 liquor licences held within the Riccarton Ward, 14 of these are off licences and 77 on licences. The high number of on licences can be attributable to the higher proportion of restaurants and eateries in the Riccarton area.

The Riccarton ward has some of the lowest areas of greenspace per person in the city. Of the 26 greenspaces in the ward, 14 parks have playground equipment, there are three parks with basketball half courts and one with a standalone football goal. There are no parks with skate facilities, tennis courts or fitness equipment in the Riccarton Ward.

Within the creation of the Riccarton Vision the community identified the following objectives in this regard:

- Riccarton community places a high value on retaining existing green space and the development of additional green spaces where possible.
- The diverse housing make up of Riccarton is acknowledged and celebrated.
- In Riccarton we place a high value on informal bumping spaces, both indoor and outdoor, that provide community members the opportunity to connect with others.

Te Pou Tua Toru: Te Mahi

Pillar 3: Participation

Residents and groups in the wider community are socially and actively engaged and able to initiate and influence decisions affecting their lives.

Six Residents' Groups are currently operating in the Riccarton Ward. Each of these work in very different ways, advocating for the members of their catchment areas and in some cases providing opportunities for residents to build relationships with each other.

In 2023, there were eight presentations to the Community Board's meetings on Riccarton issues by way of the Public Forum, Deputations by Appointment and Petitions. In 2024 this number was 26. Over 75 per cent of those presentations were on traffic issues at Church Corner.

There were 175 submitters to the 2024-34 Long Term Plan who identified themselves as living in the Riccarton ward. (Note there were 4,300 submitters who did not identify the ward they lived in.)

Five of the six Riccarton based residents' groups participated in the District Plan's Proposed Housing and Business Choice Plan Changes (PC14) decision-making processes. The majority of interest by these groups was in the proposed increase in housing density around the Riccarton and Church Corner business districts.

In the 2023 census statistics 10.9 percent of the Riccarton population over the age of 15 stated that they undertook voluntary work for an organisation, group or marae. This is a decrease of the 13.1 percent 2018 figure.

Riccarton Collective meeting

Within the creation of the Riccarton Vision, the community identified the following objective aligning with the Participation Pillar:

- Riccarton is a well-connected community where people know and watch out for each other.

Te Pou Tua Rua: Te Whenua

Pillar 4: Preparedness

People feel safe in their communities and neighbourhoods and work together to understand, adapt and thrive in the context of change and disruption.

Climate Change Resilience

Climate change is the biggest challenge of our time. It is already affecting our weather, health and wellbeing, natural environment, taonga species, mahinga kai, food production, biosecurity, infrastructure, and the economy.

The Christchurch City Council is responding to climate change in Ōtautahi Christchurch by working towards targets for reducing emissions, and by helping our communities prepare for and adapt to our changing climate.

Key risks identified include hot weather and drought, strong winds, wildfires, heavy rain and flooding, and rising sea level, coastal and ocean changes.

Inland communities of Christchurch faces key risks from increasing temperatures, drought, and more intense rainfall, which threaten terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems, while flash flooding from extreme rainfall and river flooding impacts built assets and infrastructure.

There are currently no emergency preparedness or response plans that have been developed by community groups within the Riccarton Ward, although Oak Development Trust has produced emergency preparedness leaflets in six different languages.

The absence of plans could be due to the fact that the Riccarton ward was directly affected by a lesser extent to the earthquake, fire and flooding emergencies of the past two decades. Additionally, it has been anecdotally suggested from within the Riccarton community that the higher levels of social deprivation in the ward mean that providing the necessities of life are of a much higher priority than considering both preparedness and climate adaptation measures.

Increasing a sense of safety, neighbourliness and well-being are seen as priorities in Riccarton.

Within the creation of the Riccarton Vision the community identified the following objectives aligning with the Preparedness Pillar:

- Riccarton is a well-connected community where people know and watch out for each other.
- Riccarton is a visually appealing place that makes people feel safe and welcome.
